Joe Cipollone is an Associate at Torridon Law PLLC, where he represents clients in complex federal litigation, congressional investigations and oversight, internal investigations, and intellectual property disputes..

Prior to joining Torridon, Joe served as Counsel to the U.S. House of Representatives Select Subcommittee on the Coronavirus Pandemic, under the Committee on Oversight and Accountability. In that capacity, he advised Members of Congress in connection with high-profile hearings, assisted in transcribed interviews or depositions of senior government and private-sector officials, and prepared formal communications requesting information from federal agencies, corporations, and individuals.

Joe also served as a law clerk to the Honorable Edward H. Meyers and the Honorable Eleni M. Roumel of the United States Court of Federal Claims. In these roles, he worked closely with the court on a broad range of high-stakes matters, including bid protests, contract disputes, and claims against the United States, and gained substantial insight into federal litigation strategy, motion practice, and judicial decision-making. His clerkship experience informs his ability to anticipate litigation risks and develop effective advocacy strategies for clients.

Joe earned his J.D., with a certificate from the Law and Technology Institute, from the Columbus School of Law at The Catholic University of America. He received his B.A. in Classics from Georgetown University.
